

COUTURE

Couture is a flexible range of furniture best described as a modern take on traditional 1950s and 1960s handicraft. The aim with this range was to find a new way of combining functions and to create an item of furniture with a homely feel that also helps you to work more easily. A restrained design language is used, but this is counterbalanced by the rounded edges of the table's corners and legs. The tables are available in different shapes and heights, and materials such as walnut, teak, ash, white laminate and Swedish green marble. The range also includes easy chair and sofas.
